

WISCONSIN DEPARTMENT OF NATURAL RESOURCES
BUREAU OF INTEGRATED SCIENCE SERVICES
RESEARCH/MANAGEMENT FINDINGS SERIES

Findings No. Title, Date, Author, Publication No.

---

- |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 45 Short duration grazing and duck nesting: a case history. 2000. James O. Evrard [PUB-SS-745 2000] 44 Overwinter food plots for pheasants. 2000. James O. Evrard [PUB-SS-744 2000] 43 Home range characteristics of eastern wild turkey gobblers in Wisconsin's driftless region. 2000. R. Neal Paisley, Peter J. Conrad, Douglas D. Denk, and John F. Kubisiak [PUBL-SS-743 00] 42 The impact of Project Wild on fourth grade students. 1999. Susan C. Gilchrest [PUBL-SS-742 99] 41 Deer habitat relationships in central Wisconsin. 1997. John F. Kubisiak and Robert E. Rolley [PUBL-SS-741 97] 40 A native weevil attacks Eurasian watermilfoil. 1997. Richard A. Lillie and Daniel Helsel [PUBL-740 97] 39 Waterfowl use of nesting structures in Northwest Wisconsin. 1996. James O. Evrard [PUBL-SS-739 96] 38 Phosphorus loadings from Wisconsin watersheds: recommended phosphorus export coefficients for agricultural and forested watersheds. 1995. John C. Panuska and Richard A. Lillie [PUBL-RS-738 95] 37 Food habits of wild turkeys in southwestern Wisconsin. 1994. R. Neal Paisley and John F. Kubisiak [PUBL-RS-737 94] 36 Use of federal waterfowl production area wetlands for rearing walleyes: impacts on macroinvertebrates. 1993. Richard A. Lillie [PUBL-RS-736 93] 35 Trophic state index equations and regional predictive equations for Wisconsin lakes. 1993. R. A. Lillie, S. Graham, and P. Rasmussen [PUBL-RS-735 93] *34 The rise and fall of Milltown's Rice Lake. 1992. Sandy Engel and Stanley A. Nichols [PUBL-RS-734 92] 33 Estimates of lead, cadmium, and PCB loading to the lower Fox River and lower Green Bay. 1992. John G. Konrad [PUBL-RS-733 92] | 32 A comparison of two rake sampling techniques for sampling aquatic macrophytes. 1992. Elisabeth R. Deppe and Richard C. Lathrop [PUBL-RS-732 92] 31 Impact of beaver dam removal on brook trout populations and the sport fishery in a northeastern Wisconsin stream. 1991. Ed L. Avery [PUBL-RS-731 91] 30 Impact of beaver dam removal on summer water temperatures in a northeastern Wisconsin trout stream. 1991. Ed L. Avery [PUBL-RS-730 91] *29 An analysis of the 1990 experimental early september hunt to manage giant Canada geese in southeast Wisconsin. 1991. John Huff, Jon Berquist, and Bill Wheeler [PUBL-RS-729 91] *28 Evaluation of insitu chambers to measure sediment oxygen demand. 1991. Richard Wulk [PUBL-RS-728 91] *27 Investigation of two large scale subsurface soil absorption systems for wastewater treatment. 1990. Anthony G. Hendricks [PUBL-RS-727 90] *26 The history and status of Wisconsin's resident Canada goose populations. 1990. William E. Wheeler and John M. Cole [PUBL-RS-726 90] 25 Wisconsin's wildlife constituency study: who are the nonconsumptive wildlife users of Wisconsin? 1989. Jordan Petchenik and Harriett Moyer [PUBL-RS-725 89] 24 Stocking pheasants in northwestern Wisconsin. 1989. James O. Evrard [PUBL-RS-724 89] *23 History and status of Wisconsin's fisher population. 1989. Bruce E. Kohn, William A. Creed, and James E. Ashbrenner [PUBL-RS-723 89] *22 The abundance of aquatic macrophytes in the Yahara lakes. 1989. Richard C. Lathrop [PUBL-RS-722 89] *21 Experimental northern red oak regeneration in northeast Wisconsin. 1989. Adrian P. Wydeven [PUBL-RS-721 89] |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|

*Out of print. Local public and academic libraries can request copies of out of print documents through interlibrary loan.
See back for ordering publications that are in print.

- *20 Reintroduction of wild turkeys to the Kettle Moraine State Forest. 1989. Robert J. Longwitz, David G. Matheys, and Mark L. Andersen [PUBL-RS-720 89]
- *19 Factors affecting teacher use of Project WILD. 1989. Dolly Zosel [PUBL-RS-719 89]
- *18 Angler use of northern pike in northwest Wisconsin. 1988. Terry Margenau and Scott Sapper [PUBL-RS-718 88]
- *17 Trends in summer phosphorus, chlorophyll, and water clarity in the Yahara lakes, 1976-1988. 1988. Richard C. Lathrop [PUBL-RS-717 88]
- *16 The 1987 Wisconsin camper survey: results and recommendations. 1988. Linda J. Penaloza [PUBL-RS-716 88]
- *15 The shallow lakes initiative: restoring aquatic habitat in Wisconsin. 1988. Sandy Engel [PUBL-RS-715 88]
- *14 Trout fishing in Milwaukee: the urban angling program. 1988. Ed Nelson and John Stevenson [PUBL-RS-714 88]
- *13 Timber wolf recovery in Wisconsin: the attitudes of northern Wisconsin farmers and landowners. 1988. Ed Nelson and Diane Franson [PUBL-RS-713 88]
- *12 Chloride and sodium trends in the Yahara lakes. 1988. Richard C. Lathrop [PUBL-RS-712 88]
- *11 Phosphorus trends in the Yahara lakes since the mid-1960s. 1988. Richard C. Lathrop [PUBL-RS-711 88]
- *10 Trends in Wisconsin's spring duck surveys. 1988. Ron Gatti [PUBL-RS-710 88]
- *9 Fall use of rotenone at low concentrations to eradicate fish populations. 1988. Jeff Roth and Vern Hacker [PUBL-RS-709 88]
- *8 Who uses our parks: results of the 1986 recreation survey. 1987. Linda J. Penaloza [PUBL-RS-708 87]
- *7 Use of mini-mesh gill nets for forage fish evaluations. 1987. Terry Margenau [PUBL-RS-707 87]
- *6 Perennial legumes as food for wintering bobwhite quail. 1987. Eugene E. Woehler [PUBL-RS-706 87]
- *5 Use of herbicides to control woody nuisance plants on public lands. 1987. Eugene E. Woehler [PUBL-RS-705 87]
- *4 Status and control of purple loosestrife in Wisconsin. 1987. Richard Henderson [PUBL-RS-704 87]
- *3 Establishing native wetland plants as nesting cover on organic soils. 1987. Eugene E. Woehler [PUBL-RS-703 87]
- *2 Concepts in lake management: restructuring littoral zones. 1987. Sandy Engel [PUBL-RS-702 87]
- *1 Duck production: the Wisconsin picture. 1987. Ron Gatti [PUBL-RS-701 87]

December 2001 PUBL-SS-904 00

To order publications, please make request to the following address:

Department of Natural Resources
Integrated Science Services • 101 S. Webster Street, PO Box 7921 • Madison, WI 53707-7921
Phone 608-266-0842 • FAX 608-266-5226